Letdown.

Oh, it must've been a masterpiece
But I ain't thinking 'bout it lately
And, oh, it would've taken all of me
But it wasn't up to me now, baby
I don't want a matriarch, you see
I don't wanna have to see that ending
And it's all about the past for me
But what they never know is she's a

Gold digger in the spotlight
Grave robber if you lose your fight
And who said you had to win this time?
I wanna let you know that I'm about to lose my mind
And fear for me in the daylight
Not worth it if you lose your life
Gold digger in the spotlight
I wanna let you know that I'm about to lose my life

So forget all about this and turn it back to one
I've got a question for you, baby, does it hurt to run?
Waiting for the ending, I'll see nothing from my knees
'Cause she's a

And I should have told you there was nothing in my eyes
The Devil's got his lies, but I'm out of time
And I should have told you there was nothing in the air
I have nothing there 'cause I have nothing left
