

You Say

Lethian Dreams

You say you're breaking my heart
I say break it all
I say you breathe in you breathe out
But this has to go out

I say I only need to feel free
But here is no release
You say every end has a start
And fear will fall apart

Like birds toward an open sky
Who reach their purpose well
The softened moonlight for our
Broken hopes to dwell

You'll wonder where we'll all go
Us with wounds is all we know
And the gifts we were given
Back to the swarm of a distant heaven