

Whatever It Takes

Letter Kills

The sun will rise again, breaking through the cloud, and this is our way out,
Oh doctor, doctor, you can feel the light attack, cause it's been pushing on my back.
And it screams so loud. I'll listen for the sentiment, you listen for the sound.
Whatever it takes, we won't know until we meet again.

The boys will ride again, running gun in hand, we'll make it back alright,
Oh doctor, doctor, you did wonders with my sight,
'Cause I've been looking up all night.
And I can hear them start to fight.

I'll listen for the sentiment, you listen for the sound.
Whatever it takes, we won't know until we meet again.
And so I'll wait for the rising sun, and so I'll wait, I'll wait!
I'll listen for the sentiment, you listen for the sound. Whatever it takes,
We won't know until we meet again.