This Decision

Level

I've made a list of things
That meant a lot to me
Put em on my pillow for the morning after
Mother don't you cry
Yes I know you tried
Just remember all the love and laughter we felt

Voices carry through my mind
They're telling me it's time
So long so long so long

This decision has been given
Despite the rights that we have wronged
Embrace the moments or we'll miss them
That's the warning for this morning son

A shadow of a man staring back at me
Said son you're headed for a huge disaster
No need to learn the truth
If you're gonna burn the proof
And no bandage heals the damage to my character

Voices carry down now
They're giving me a sign
Hold on hold on hold on

This decision has been given
Despite the rights that we have wronged
Embrace the moments or we'll miss them
That's the warning for this morning son

This decision has been given
Despite the rights that we have wronged
Embrace the moments or we'll miss them
That's the warning for this morning
And that's the warning for this morning son son
