

Falling To Pieces

Lewis Capaldi

So tell me now who could've known
Four years have past since you moved on
Sometimes I still wait by the door
But I know this ain't your home no more

Searching for something to do
To bring me closer to you
I'm doing anything and everything but I can't get through
Looking for something to say
To keep the demons at bay
The only remedy's a melody that we can replay

For every line I hear you sing to me
I make a promise that I'll try to keep
Those London crowds sound just like symphonies
But I can't believe it
I'm falling to pieces, missing you

So hear me out above the noise
Sometimes we're left without a choice
Just know I long to hear your voice
Oh, how I long to hear your voice

Looking for something to do
To bring me closer to you
I'm doing anything and everything but I can't get through
Looking for something to say
To keep the demons at bay
The only remedy's a melody that we can replay

For every line I hear you sing to me
I make a promise that I'll try to keep
Those London crowds sound just like symphonies
And I can't believe it
I'm falling to pieces, missing you