

I Quit

Lich King

(Tom)

Things were very different in metal's early year
You could leave your day job and forge a new career
But now a good show means some pizza and nine bucks
This sucks
So I've been thinking hard and I've come to a decision about this shit

I Quit!

Seven hours in a bar
Every night of tour is not my idea of fun

I like travelling with my pals, but enough, hell with this, I'm done

I could be sitting at home with Netflix, relaxing while I draw up some art

Instead of being miserable and breathing in your smoke while bashing my head apart

Dudes are sick of listening to me whine
These guys want to tour all of the time
I'll run things behind the scenes and write more songs but as for shows,
You're out of luck, find someone who's a better fit

'Cause you know what? I Quit!

(Nick)

Tom, come on, you can't leave the band
This is your baby, I don't understand

(Tom)

We're going in different directions, this blows,
I don't like bars and I don't like shows.

(Mike)

People won't come if they won't see your face!
You're the main draw, you can't be replaced

(Tom)

That's bullshit, people just like the songs
It doesn't matter who does the screaming, you're wrong
I would stay if this paid like a job
But I miss my home, I miss my dog
I wish you the best, I wish you well but from now on find someone else

(Brian)

Please stay, no one else could stir up such a pit

(Tom)

Yeah that's true... but I told you already
I Quit!...
I'Mm ! I'm Gone! I'm Through! I'm Done! I Quit!
Quit! Quit!

(What if we get a big show in Japan or something?)
(Oh! Maybe...)