

The Werewolf

Lich King

There's something in the woods tonight
Shadow and fur and fear
Limbs thrum with unholy might
Breathing thunder in my ear

I am cloaked in branch and brush
I slaver and I rage
Screaming murder through the hush
Succumb to her embrace

The moon is full and so am I
I'm full of blood and death
Brightly flashing lightning strike
Lunar curse's ill effect

Loping at you, running you down
You're a rabbit and I'm a wolf
Say your prayers, come and drown in terror, watch as I evolve
I'm baying to the moon!

The forest holds no foes for me
It holds just one for you
What I've become, what I've seen
And most of all what I've been through

I died and then I went to hell
Met someone, made a pact
Inside the skin of something else
I live again, yes, I've come back

Ten feet tall and made of hate
With claws that glisten red
Devouring flesh of men to sate
The howling demons in my head

Loping at you, running you down
You're a rabbit and I'm a wolf
Say your prayers, come and drown in terror, watch as I evolve
I'm baying to the moon!

Scent is strong inside my nose
You know I'm right nearby
Cannot see me, though I'm close
Sobbing that you shouldn't die

This is what you did to me
This is for revenge
This is something sacred, you see
And now this is the time to end

The hunt is over and now you're mine
I'm held by Devil's laws
To take my pleasure in your dying
Whimpering between my jaws

Loping at you, running you down
You're a rabbit and I'm a wolf

Say your prayers, come and drown in terror, watch as I evolve
I'm baying to the moon!
