

Threads Of Sincerity

Life In Your Way

Anywhere I go, anywhere my feet take me
Your compassion never fails me
I've gotten so far away
Alone and close to giving up
Can I lay down these ways not in vain?
Your love is the greatest thing
I will look ahead to see the truth in this, to see the truth in me
Closer, closer to you
I need it to last more than a moment, these times with you
The rhythm skips a beat and I hold the weight of the world
To the touch I ache, to the look I seem to be a mistake
These mistakes I've made hold me back from the days I should spend with you
To be long term and long lasting
To overcome the lines and the rules
There are days when I'm right where I'm supposed to be
But mostly I am far away
I'm learning to live the way I should I'm learning to love the way you should
And today it's been made clear that I've walked so far alone
It's easy wanting something more
I will dive... closer to you...
