

The Safety Of Disbelief

Light The Torch

I can never be all that you want from me
And I am broken, I will fail you constantly

There's nothing left that we can say
Nothing gold can ever stay
It's easier to run away
It's easier to curse than pray

No sacrifice, now burn it at the altar

I can never be all that you want from me
And I am broken, I will fail you constantly
Return to the safety of disbelief

You want to lay your doubt aside
Faith has nowhere left to hide
I'm the one with hollow eyes
I'm the one you now despise

I can never be all that you want from me
And I am broken, I will fail you constantly
Return to the way that you bleed for me
Return to the safety of disbelief

For you and all your dreams
I feel nothing

And I am broken, I will fail you constantly
Return to the way that you bleed for me
Return to the safety of disbelief

I can never be all that you want from me
And I am broken, I will fail you constantly
Return to the safety of disbelief

I can never be all that you want from me
And I am broken, I will fail you constantly
Return to the way that you bleed for me
Return to the safety of disbelief

For you and all your dreams
I feel nothing