

Prayers

Lights

I've worked it out a thousand ways
And it doesn't get any easier to see
I don't believe in much these days
But you will always be holy to me

I can't hold on to myself
If there's nobody there
I got pain I can't help
It's a weight you can't bear

I know the sun don't shine at a quarter to five
And I don't need prayers, to feel alive
And I don't need prayers, to feel alive
And I don't need prayers, to feel alive, to feel alive

You see the darkness comes anytime it pleases
They say the drink is not worth all the pain it eases

Oh you gotta find your way back to
But the sun's gonna come the same way it leaves us

I got trouble I can't seem to solve
But lately things are easier to see
I don't know what that feelings called
But it will always be holy to me

I can't hold on to myself
If there's nobody there
I got pain I can't help
It's a weight you can't bear

I know the sun don't shine at a quarter to five
And I don't need prayers, to feel alive, to feel alive
To feel alive, to feel alive