Liar

Like A Storm

There are castles made of sand
There's the upside of down
There is good inside the bad
There are thorns inside the crown

And it dawned on me
That nothing's ever quite what it seems
And I've seen enough to know
That you just might be one of those things

There are castles made of sand
'Til the waves come crashing down
And a fist is just a hand
'Til it turns upon itself

And it dawned on me
That nothing's ever quite what it seems
And I've seen enough to know
That you just might be one of those things

And I wonder, and I wonder when you get me higher
Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, liar
And I wonder, and I wonder when you feed the fire
Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, liar
Like me

Liar, liar, liar
You're a liar, like me

There's a peace inside the violence
That can turn you inside out
There is the thunder in the silence
That lives between us now

And it dawned on me
That all you want is not what you need
When it seems like you're the cure
Then you just might be my disease

And I wonder, and I wonder when you get me higher
Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, liar
And I wonder, and I wonder when you feed the fire
Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, liar
Like me

Liar, liar, liar (liar)

No
I can't escape the feeling
I can't escape at all

And I wonder

Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, a liar
And I wonder, and I wonder when you feed the fire
Yeah I wonder if you're a liar, liar
Like me

Liar, liar, liar (liar)
Liar, liar, liar

There are castles made of sand
And you just might be one of those things

You're a liar, like me
