

Hollow Tears

Like Pacific

I'm laying in fallen leaves now
Watch the weather change
I'm accompanied by your ghost
How fitting since you left without somewhere to stay
When you're close by I feel it surround me
Just like it did when you were clean
Now I've got something to say and you're not around
Yeah, I got something to say

Why does lonely feel so cold?
You can save me from your hollow tears
Can't take back all you stole
You can ask yourself why you're still here

You dug a grave too deep
What you want's out of reach
Buried in your mind again
Relying on borrowed time
Spiralling out your head
Who's the victim, what comes next?
No truth can come from liars' tongues
Yeah, I got something to say

Why does lonely feel so cold?
You can save me from your hollow tears
Can't take back all you stole
You can ask yourself why you're still here
Never going to change your ways
You've stolen time and wasted days
So why does lonely feel so cold?

And you're only getting worse with time
You can spare me all the tactic lies
I see you running for your worthless life
Ask yourself why you're still here

Why does lonely feel so cold?
You can save me from your hollow tears
Can't take back all you stole
You can ask yourself why you're still here
Never going to change your ways
You've stolen time and wasted days
So why does lonely feel so cold?