

Do you even hear yourself when you're talking like that?
Acting like you're someone else, baby, I don't like that Would it kill you to be honest for once in your life?
I miss the old you, didn't even get to say goodbye
All the games that you played, all the messes you made
Finally opened my eyes

You burnt me for the last time
I let you hurt me for the last time
I know you're not the first, but you know that you're the worst
But you burnt me for the last time

You burnt me for the last time
It's apparent you like you hurt me just to past time
I know that now I should've taken my own advice
And I never do, but after how you did me last night
I'm over you, I'm over this, I'm over everything that you said to me
All the plans we made, all the heartache and the memories
Promises you never keep Missing 2017
Finally wrote a song to make sure you still remember me

You burnt me for the last time
I let you hurt me for the last time
I know you're not the first, but you know that you're the worst
But you burnt me for the last time

Never again
We can never be friends
I want you to know that it's over
Never again (I wrote this song to let you know)
We can never be friends (It's all your fault that I'm all broke
)
I want you to know that it's over (I'm moving on, I'm moving on
)

You burnt me for the last time
I let you hurt me for the last time
I know you're not the first, but you know that you're the worst
But you burnt me for the last time
You burnt me for the last time
I let you hurt me for the last time
I know you're not the first, but you know that you're the worst
And you burnt me for the last time