Tell me why I can't see where I'm goin(No) when everybody else see's, where I'm comin from and I don't know why I travel down these dead end roads I gotta turn this car around—and find my way home

When you listen to my music do you feel my shit look I don't need punchlines cause I live my shit alot of cats selling they soul for radio play that's why we need mo' rappers like Common and Kayne niggaz scared to be broke so they fake it, to make it if my album went gold I'd still be the greatest back in the days I would get caught for trulency but now I'm puttin money back in my community I took my homies out the hood now they got jobs cause it's more to life then dodgin cop cars I played the block hard, now I play the pop charts now I'm gettin dumb money, cause I got smart

Aiiyo I never seen a man cry,till I seen a man die so when you talk to me look me in my damn eyes cause I been through it all and my scars prove it cause when it come to that paper homie I'm a do it I just rhyme part time you better know it these lines comin from my mind so I never wrote it keep my nine by my spine so I never show it yeah I'm addicted to pine but I never grow it and the reason I got signed cause I'm a poet half of my niggaz doin time but I'm focused that's why I'm stayin on my grind if you haven't noticed that old Cadillac transformed to a Lotus

When ya new album drop everybody ya friend niggaz actin like they down but I know they pretend I use to scrap up money for studio time I'm like Jay Z homie I remember my rhymes ain't nobody help me out when my cash was low bills comin too fast so I had to blow and I walked by faith, not by sight cause I know G-O-D will guide me right I take the bitter with the sweet, I know you feel my pain why we gotta get harassed when we board the plane I ain't tryna preach to you but I hope you relate even at a dead end you gotta find yo'way(Okay,Okay)

I wanna dedicate this track here to my grandparents ya know they stuck with me through thick and thin ya knah'im'sayin since day one, without my family ya know I ain't got no back bone man so I dedicate this to you and pray to God you gon'find a way...holla back
