

Life Is Beautiful

Lil Peep

I know that It hurts sometimes but it's beautiful
Working everyday, now you're bleeding through you cuticles
Passing through a portal, as you're sittin' in your cubicle
Isn't life beautiful? I think, that life is beautiful

Tryin' to keep your cool at your grandfather's funeral
Finding out eventually, the feeling wasn't mutual
You were not invited, 'cause you're nothing like the usual
Isn't life beautiful? I think, that life is beautiful

You wanna see your friends, but your stuck inside a hospital
Doctor walks in, and he tells you that it's terminal
Tumor in your brain, and they're sayin' it's inoperable
Isn't life beautiful? I think, that life is beautiful

They kill your little brother, and they'll tell you he is a criminal They'll fucking kill you too, so you better not get physical Welcome to America, this type of shit is typical
Isn't life beautiful? I think, that life is beautiful

Wake up in the morning, now you're doing the impossible
Find out what's important, now you're feeling philosophical
When I die I will pack my bags, move somewhere more affordable
Isn't life horrible? I think, that life is horrible

You think she's adorable, she thinks that you're intolerable
You think you can do it, but your chances are improbable
Once you feel unstoppable, you run into an obstacle
Isn't life comical? I think that life is comical

And if you ever need a friend then you got me
And in the end, when I die, would you watch me?
And if I try suicide, would you stop me?
Would you help me get a grip or would you drop me?

Run away, make friends with the moon
Why you trippin'? You'll be with your friends soon
It comes a time everybody meets the same fate
I think I'ma die alone inside my room
