

Lesson Learned

Lil Wyte

Due Talk

Sitting on the corner smoking marijuana age 12

Never thought I'd have a picture off inside the XXL

Started free styling 16 in the cafeteria

Wrote a hot 16 than all them then knew

I was serious White Boy Dinero introduced me to the Shelby Forest Click

I ended up getting on 10 of they 15 songs the shit was sick

My dad put up them cheese for us to get them press

Man I swear to God they thought we was the motherfucking best

Who knew a year later 3 6 would get a copy of it

And I'd came out with a solo deal yelling Mafia, bitch

They felt like I traded on em I was following dreams

Had a baby on the way and couldn't afford diaper, rash, and cream

So what do you think I did when I got to my crossroads

Kept on walking straight never looked back once and went with my whole soul

Though it came with the consequences, conflict interrupted

Every time we saw each other we was fighting over nothing

One day they sent a junkie to my home to do me harm

I was outta town so they commenced a beating up my mom

She had brain damage after the first blow to the head

Had to spend a couple of weeks in the hospital bed

Her condition got worse and started stressing out my dad

4 years later into all the pills he had a massive heart attack

The Dr. said he'd be ok, but you know how them things go

Now I live my life without either one of my fucking folks

Because my mother's mind is gone, she don't recognize my face

And my dad, yeah hes passed away he's in a better place

But I blame myself if I would have never signed that contract

Maybe shit would be different and I would have both of my parents back

But neither one of them wanted that, they wanted me to shine

They know I was exceptional with an extraordinary mind

So I say Thank You, to my gift and my curse

The fact they won't see the SNO album drop is what really hurts

So all the people that were involved in causing me this pain

Understand you poured gasoline in the center of my flame

And I'll keep burning till the end of time you'll never put me out

If that was your attempt to shut me up you need to choose another route

Now I'm colder than ever I got the whole world going crazy

Why you still only getting 20 people in the Daisy

I'm the man, bitch you shoulda stuck along for the ride

Wyte Music is on the rise and now my bodies full of pride

Motherfucka
