Giving Yourself Over

Lime Cordiale

You were always so out
Running with me all night
You never ever grew tired

Up to see the sun (yeah)
Up for feeling down, hey

You were always louder
Begging to be laughter [?]
You get a headache after
Had the easy life
Had it overtime

You're giving yourself over
Don't you know I told ya
I'm mad at your composure
Acting like you're older
You give me the cold shoulder

I feel I'm talking to someone else since you've been coupling up
I feel you're tryna be someone you're pretending was you all along
You're giving yourself over

You're hardly ever alone
And now I take on my own
But do you ever make a moan
Three might be a crowd
I want you around, yeah

I see it in your wide eyes
A deer in the headlights
I tried in front of your side
Dragged a ball and chain
I won't be the same

You're giving yourself over
Don't you know I told ya
I'm mad at your composure
Acting like you're older
You give me the cold shoulder

I feel I'm talking to someone else since you've been coupling up
I feel you're tryna be someone you're pretending was you all along

It's happening
Feels like we'e all giving in Giving in, feels like we're all giving in Feels like we're all giving in

You were always so out
Running with me all night
You never grow tired, yeah

You're giving yourself over
Don't you know I told ya
I'm mad at your composure

You give me the cold shoulder

I feel I'm talking to someone else since you've been coupling up

You're giving yourself over
