

Temptation

Lindsay Ell

Temptation, I know it all too well
I know it hurts like hell
When you got free time and I can't call you no more, no more, no more, no more
Oh, temptation to find somebody else
I know it hurts like hell
When the love you had don't love you back no more, no more, no more, no more

It ain't about hating you
It ain't about wanting you
I ain't about losing you, yeah
It's just about time for me

To give into temptation
To move on
To be strong
To find my life without you
To start the conversation with someone
That ain't you
'Cause honestly it feels so good
That you ain't my temptation no more, no more
No more, no more
That you ain't my temptation no more

A frustration turned into apathy
About who we used to be
I can see you out and not be mad no more, no more, no more, no more

It ain't about forgetting it
'Cause I don't remember everything
And boy, I know you do, yeah
It's just about time for me

To give into temptation
To move on
To be strong
To find my life without you
To start the conversation with someone
That ain't you
'Cause honestly it feels so good
That you ain't my temptation no more, no more
No more, no more
That you ain't my temptation no more

It ain't about showing you I was real good for you
Knew that from day one, yeah
It's just about time for me

To give into temptation
To move on
To be strong
To find my life without you
To start the conversation with someone
That ain't you
'Cause honestly it feels so good
That you ain't my temptation no more, no more
No more, no more

That you ain't my temptation no more

Honestly it feels good

No more, no more

No more, no more

That you ain't my temptation no more
