Through Hell and Back

Lionheart

There's a growing beast inside
That's been built up for years
I am a motherfucking lion
And I know no fear, so show no fear

This is all that remains
This is all that remains
This is all that remains

Except the will to survive
And the strength to push on
Blessed with the hope for a better day
Cursed with the knowledge it will never come

Shut down
Locked out
When all is lost you only have what's inside

This is all that remains
This is all that remains
This is all that remains

You can't break what's inside
With the will to survive
Been through hell and back
I refuse, I refuse to die

Nothing to prove and nothing to lose
This is all that I am
Nothing left but the heart of a lion
And that's what separates the can't from the can

Shut down
Locked out
When all is lost you only have what's inside

This is all that remains
This is all that remains
This is all that remains
When you have nothing left

Every time I was told I was nothing
Day after day for years
I became a motherfucking lion
And I know no fear, so show no fear

So show no fear

So show no fear
