

Sinks

Little May

Hail to the night
I will wait for your call
Expecting light
Of some form to be shed

Instead, I feel the weight of your heart
See how it sinks
Instead, I feel the weight of your stone blooded heart
See how it sinks

I say, "Lover do
You remember this face?"
Four times amused and
Rhythms fall in your place

And can you feel the weight of my stone blooded heart?
See how it sinks
And can you feel the weight of my stone blooded heart?
See how it sinks

And I hope that someday
We can share
And I hope that someday
We can share the same ground again

In my mindless pursuit of happiness
You far from me, sleepwalking down the highway
But we know that's the life or the death of me
I can't contemplate the thought of you without you without me

And I hope that someday we can share

'Cause if you both got tired long enough
Something's gonna rise
'Cause if you both got tired long enough
Something's gonna rise

'Cause if you both got tired, yeah, long enough
Something's gonna rise
Something's gonna rise
Something's gonna rise