

Shadow In The Rain

Little River Band

Sometimes I feel like a shadow in the rain
When life deals a wild card, I just can't explain
And when can I go to be myself again?
And stop from wanting you, needing you, a shadow in the rain
Two hearts that went wrong
A face without a name, like love that lingers on
I need you more than life, so I have to break the chain
But right now I'm just a shadow in the rain
Sometimes I think I know the way you feel
But some days I know you hide a heart of steel
Oh, where can I go to jump right off this wheel?
And stop from wanting you, needing you, a shadow in the rain
Two hearts that went wrong
A face without a name, like love that lingers on
I need you more than life, so I have to break the chain
But right now I'm just a shadow in the rain
Fading from view, I am almost out, still missing you
So I hide my tears, what more can I do?
'Til the last train, sometimes I feel like a shadow in the rain
Caught up with you, inside a hurricane
Oh, how can I find the strength to fight again?
Go on without you, just leave you a shadow in the rain
Two hearts that went wrong
A face without a name, like love that lingers on
I need you more than life, so I have to break the chain
But right now I'm just a shadow in the rain
