Losing Gravity

LiveonRelease

here i am
losing gravity 2000 miles from the way it's supposed to be
i really feel like i'm sellin my soul here forget myself, i cant face my own face in the mirror if i gave you fire would you turn it back on me? will i burn or will i melt, try and we'll see. if they can find the trail of gasoline if they're still not convinced we could meet over coffee and tell it like it was while you sit distractedly and i will fade into the background out of touch with reality

here i am
2000 miles from the way it's supposed to be
i really feel like i'm sellin my soul here

i never asked for this, as much as i came to receive if you stop dragging me under, i'll feel compelled to leave you are my fuel, i am your match stick and i'm combusting ever so gently

2000 miles from the way it's supposed to be
i really feel like i'm sellin my soul here

i'm afraid of myself and i'm coming apart at the seams it's better when i lie so i'll keep smiling while i'm kissing this world goodbye i really feel like i'm selling my soul here forget myself, i cant face my own face in the mirror

2000 miles from the way it's supposed to be
i really feel like i'm sellin my soul here
forget myself, i cant face my own face (in the mirror)
