

Sleeping alone
Losing control

Another slow refrain to the same mundane
Another blinding lie illuminates the shite
Underneath your feet is where you want me to be
And you tell my brain to begin again

Sleeping alone

Another lead me on, another "nothing's wrong"
Another spoonful of disingenuous love
And a shirt and tie telling me what's right
And how I should see in order to be free

Oh my god, are you on my side?
Am I the fool? Oh, my god

Thank you for keeping me in the dark
Thank you for not making me want anymore
Thank you for shielding me from the truth
Whatever would I do?

Thank you for keeping me in the dark
Thank you for not making me want anymore
Thank you for shielding me from the truth
Whatever would I do?

Thank you for keeping me in the dark
Thank you for not making me want anymore
Thank you for speaking for all the youth
Whatever would I do?

Thank you for keeping me in the dark
Thank you for not making me want anymore
Thank you for shielding me from the truth
Whatever would I do?
