

Circling

Lizz Wright

Every time I close my eyes
I get this feeling
This could be easier
This could be more like a dream

Circling in my mind
Sometimes I'm open
Comfortable in the unknown
Let it unfold

In your light I tremble
Where nothing seems
To cover me
I lose myself
I lose my breath
Between the rhythm and the reason

Gazing in the morning
Caught as you face me
I look away
I see you
Like a painter

Please don't say too much
Of what brought you to me
Your story won't lead to what I need

In your light I tremble
Where nothing seems
To cover me
I lose myself
I lose my breath
Between the rhythm and the reason

How do I shake your soul
How can you move me
To the mystery and the music you hear

In your light I tremble
Where nothing seems
To cover me
I lose myself
I lose my breath
Between the rhythm and the reason

In your light I tremble
Where nothing seems
To cover me
I lose myself
I lose my breath
Between the rhythm and the reason