

I Think I

Lizzy McAlpine

I wrote you a letter
But I cut my tongue sealing it shut
I guess that's what I get for
Not thinking before I speak up

I get underneath your skin
You break easy like porcelain
Funny how opposites attract
I know that you're hurt again
Biting through your cardigan
Never been good at knowing when to hold back

I think I love you
I hurt the ones I love the most
I promise it's not you
Push away when you're too close
I hurt the ones I love the most

I left while you were sleeping
Snuck out through the back and never said goodbye
I thought you knew me better
But every time I do this you're surprised

And I get underneath your skin
You break easy like porcelain
Funny how opposites attract
I know that you're hurt again
This is how it always ends
But we both know it won't stay like that

I think I love you
I hurt the ones I love the most
I promise it's not you
Push away when you're too close
I hurt the ones I love the most

I think I love you
I hurt the ones I love the most
I promise it's not you
Push away when you're too close
I hurt the ones I love the most