

March

Lizzy McAlpine

Threw a rock into the water
Watched it sink down to the bottom
Tryna find the lesson in it all
But I haven't learned anything

Never looked much like my father
One year older but somehow I feel younger
I see it more now that he's gone
Or maybe I just see him in everything

And how could it take so long?
Thought I had it handled but it slipped through
I didn't know it'd be this hard
So far away and then it hits you

Called you when I heard the news
Spent the night lying next to you
What a way to start it off
So heavy from the start

And how could it take so long?
Thought I had it handled but it slipped through
I didn't know it'd be this hard
So far away and then it hits you
So far away and then it hits you

So far away and then it hits you
Like it was yesterday
