

Ruined

Lizzy McAlpine

Those candles that you bought me for Christmas
I can't burn them 'cause they smell like you
And every time I walk into a Starbucks, I see you at every table
It's been a while since I've had cold brew

Don't you know how hard it is to find a decent guy
In this city of four-thousand? Where everybody looks like you?
Don't even get me started on the way you saw this song online
And called, told me you didn't, but you did and I have proof that

You ruined The 1975, now I listen and think about getting high
In your bedroom, windows open
Mom is home but we're still smoking
You ruined The 1975, now I listen and cry 'cause you sang
"We share friends in Soho"
While you told me that none of your friends know

And I hated you for that but it's been two years now
And I really just hate you
For making me hate my favorite band

You broke my heart then went away to college
You were only fifteen minutes down the road
And I always thought you'd show up to say sorry
But as time went on, I started to lose hope

Don't you know how hard it is to find a decent guy
When you never gave me closure? What the hell was I to do?
Don't even get me started on the way you saw this song online
I guess it must've thrown you 'cause you called and said you knew tha t

I stayed quiet, but I probably should've told you
Every night I would cry and wish I didn't know you
I said nothing and now I got issues
I'll bill you for the tear-stained tissues
Oh, I don't think you have that kind of dough 'cause

You ruined The 1975, now I listen and think about getting high
In your bedroom, windows open
Mom is home but we're still smoking
You ruined The 1975, now I listen and cry 'cause you sang
"We share friends in Soho"
While you told me that none of your friends know

And I hated you for that but it's been two years now
And I really just hate you
For making me hate my favorite band
