

Permutations III

Lo-Fang

As I unfold you
Untangle you limb by limb
Who will control you
If we can't tell where we begin?

We started a friendship
Before the pretend shit
The role-playing in the dark

I can't take this any farther
Now our friendship has had to end

I have only known you half the time
I have only known you half the time
Half the time I feel completely blind
I have only known you half the time

I found out your instincts
For power and fame and wealth
I know how you like your money
I know I was just for fun

I have only known you half the time
I have only known you half the time
Half the time I've been completely blind
I have only known you half the time