

Modern Life

Lo Moon

I fall apart on the 405
When I hear you in my head, as the engine dies

You said in the dark will you recognize?
When the brights lights turn to red
Will you run and hide?

So tell me you're afraid, yeah, you're afraid like me
I wanna disappear but I'm stuck on repeat

Do you ever get the feeling everybody's leaving just right when you need 'em?
Oh my God, I try to find a meaning, something to believe in
Tell me am I dreaming
Or is this modern life?

I'm alone in the dead of night
As I read the words you said
In the pale blue light

Now I know
You can blame the times
But when the bright lights turn to red
Will you recognize?

Do you know that you're afraid, yeah, you're afraid like me?
But nothing ever changes when you're stuck on repeat

Do you ever get the feeling everybody's leaving just right when you need 'em?
Oh my God, I try to find a meaning, something to believe in
Tell me am I dreaming
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?

Or is this modern life?

Why do I get the feeling everybody's leaving?
Give me a meaning, something to believe in
Tell me am I dreaming
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?

Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?
Or is this modern life?
