

Café Amarillo

Local Natives

Oh my love, I remember
Waking up to the sound of your thoughts
Digitized and destroyed
I was halfway to Calais from Dover
When the word had finally come over
Thought we said never again?

Oo my love, can't believe
The headline across, across the screen
I couldn't fall asleep

And it's raining on both ends of the phone
You're in the lobby and I'm on my way home
But there's no shelter without you there
Somethings are so simple
Then impossible to explain
The Café Amarillo
Stay dry when you're caught in the rain, we're caught in the ra in

I don't wanna die before I learn to live
Looking for my exits
Still so bad at making plans I plan to keep How long has it been?

And it's raining on both ends of the phone
You're in the lobby and I'm on my way home
But there's no shelter without you there
Somethings are so simple
Then impossible to explain
You can't run, pull a trigger
Or stay dry when you're caught in the rain, we're caught in the rain

I long for when the sun was in our eyes
One day, forever, the sun in our eyes