

The Past And The Present

Locksley

maybe he was wrong but then she pulled em all along he was the best she had even right away that wasn't much and for the day he wasn't good or bad she asked me for a dance 'And yes I'd love to but I can't,' was what I meant to say if all the words came out I was already at her house I guess I have to stay

leave it
why don't you leave it
I can't believe it
it's been so loooong
tell me
why won't you tell me
it's just as well
these days are gooone

'He would never know' and though 'I would,' she swears, 'he won't'
It was a small mistake,' 'really, can't blame me' but I'm better she said, 'He has something else to say'
'Promise is revenge I shud have tried to make amends and we should end this here and I'd apoligize but its too late and I know why this is goodbye my dear '

leave it
why don't you leave it
I can't believe it
it's been so loooong
tell me
why won't you tell me
it's just as well
these days are gooone

everyday now she fights memories
when she shuts her eyes since it helps her sleep she stays up all night long forgetting memories with me I tried to but it rung that little girl's just so much fun God help me if it's good It's nothing of the sort she'll roll the base bed(?) just for sport that's sweet but nothing wrong

leave it
why don't you leave it

I can't believe it
it's been so loooong
tell me
why won't you tell me
it's just as well
these days are gooone