

Generations

Logan Henderson

I've been hiding in my basement
People looking at me like I'm fading
I'm trying to find inspiration from my generation

Addicted to the drugs and addicted to the lifestyle
Maybe you should stay committed
Maybe you should stay wild
Everybody loves you but no one really knows you
'Cause dance and party [?] the only things you're close to

Go, whoever that you're go to
Late at night, early morning
Hope I never know who
Damn it, what a shame
I had so much more to show you

Let the music play and just face it
Everybody's high and they're wasted
You're trying to find inspiration for your generation

And I know it won't be long now
Cause I never sleep when the sun's down
It's so close I can taste it
This is my generation

Damn it, what a shame
I had so much more to show you
