

Better Off Gone

Logan Mize

That girl's got her eyes on a fading horizon
Here come the last line of our favorite song
The end of an era
She's gonna tear up
That interstate on her way to charleston

She's gone moving on
Taking off my letter jacket
She gonna drive as far as she can tonight
She gonna sleep on the roadside
She'll know when our hometown country station
Turns to static
She ain't ever been that far from home
But I know she's better off gone

We all knew that she was too good for kansas
She swears we'll end up together in the end
But she wouldn't have to say that
If she really thought that fact is
She ain't coming back again

She's gone moving on
Taking off my letter jacket
She gonna drive as far as she can tonight
She gonna sleep on the roadside
She'll know when our hometown country station
Turns to static
She ain't ever been that far from home
But I know she's better off gone

Only good thing I ever had
Just up and gone away like that
I love her enough to not hold on
It's gonna break my heart but I'll get along
'Cause she's better off gone

She's gone moving on
Taking off my letter jacket
She gonna drive as far as she can tonight
She gonna sleep on the roadside
She'll know when our hometown country station
Turns to static
She ain't ever been that far from home
But I know she's better off gone

Yeah I know she's better off gone
