

Her Heartland

Logan Mize

She's the dust trails on that one road out of town
She's the south wind keeps that windmill spinning round
She's a water tower sunset colored purple, pink and red
Her suntan skin and sea green eyes keep dancing in my head

She calls me back
She calls me back

She calls me back, back to her heartland
The only Heaven on Earth I know
She calls me back, back to her heartland
I got a bigger dream to chase back home

I been out here trying to pin some dollar down
Losing the meaning sometimes takes leaving to be found
But she's probably on that front porch
Lemonade glass in her hand
I'm making tracks in my old Chevy
Yeah, catch me if you can

'Cause I'm headed back
She calls me back

She calls me back, back to her heartland
The only Heaven on Earth I know
She calls me back, back to her heartland
I got a bigger dream to chase back home

Long on lonely, short on time
Lost the melody, forgot the rhyme
Gotta get it right before it goes wrong
Know where it is that I belong

Back, back to her heartland
The only Heaven on Earth I know
She calls me back, back to her heartland
I got a bigger dream to chase back home, yeah
She calls me back
(She calls me back)
Back to her heartland
(She calls me back)
She calls me back
