Lola Marsh

I close my eyes and see you there
I wanna be again by your side
In your arms
And stay like this forever
I see you standing in the crowd
I long to look into your eyes and try
To write for you some rhymes
So we could live forever

And the thought of you is making me high
I wasn't ready to say goodbye

So tell me where are you going
And I will follow
Can you send me a letter
Like years before
When everything was so simple
Like in the movies

And lately every song I sing
Reminds me of your everything, I try
To let it pass me by
And dream just to remember

And the thought of you is making me high
I wasn't ready to say goodbye

So tell me where are you going
And I will follow
Can you send me a letter
Like years before
When everything was so simple
Like in the movies

And I see the stars in your eyes
They're calling me to north Japan
Different sunrise
You really got me going on
Can you save me
Like in the movies

And I see the stars in your eyes
They're calling me to north Japan
Different sunrise
You really got me going on
Can you save me
