

Marathon

Lost Kings

Time keeps slipping, slipping
And [?]
I'll keep running, running
Right back to the truth and it's you

The road only makes us stronger
But you can't count every mile
This flame is getting hotter
Got to break the ice

So come on over, lean on my shoulder
I'm not afraid, we're only getting older
So glad I found you, knew I was bound to
When I was breaking down, you taught me how to
Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
It's a long marathon home

Time keeps slipping, slipping
And [?]
I'll keep running, running
Right back to the truth and it's you

You know I wanna get it started
Some things you gotta leave behind
Like punching under water
Life gets slow sometimes

So come on over, lean on my shoulder
I'm not afraid, we're only getting older
So glad I found you, knew I was bound to
When I was breaking down, you taught me how to
Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
It's a long marathon
It's a long marathon
It's a long marathon
It's a long marathon

Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
Carry on, carry on, it's a long marathon
