

So Still

Lou Doillon

You're so still,
that I find myself racing around,
and you're so "always giving"
that one starts to feel pretty unkind

And you're so big in your lovin' that I've never felt that small

Such an ocean of love,
that I'm washed up on shore
Such an ocean of love,
that I'm washed up on shore

And you're so light, that I find myself heavy with past And you're so confused by all I do, that I'm a little lost too.

And you seem so god damned sure about me, that I'm going to prove you wrong

Such an ocean of love,
that I'm washed up on shore
Such an ocean of love,
that I'm washed up on shore.