

Anthology

Lovedrug

Why do you hate
When you've never really loved
Why do you stay
When I never showed up

Was it because they loved you
And I didn't
Was it because they loved you
and I shouldn't

Stuck here, in the middle of your mind
Stuck here, with no battery to rewind

How does it feel
Your lies have pulled you under
How does it feel
It must be pretty hard oh
How does it feel
To eat words a skeleton utters
Take a drink and lay it down, Anthology

Why do you stare
At the honey's who are coming around
Why do you care
Who's a pyramid upside down

Was it because they want you
And God didn't
Was it because they haunt you
And I wouldn't!

How does it feel
Your lies have pulled you under
How does it feel
It must be pretty hard oh
How does it feel
To eat words a skeleton utters
Take a drink and compass it round, Anthology

Sucking on a full moon, come on arise!
If he is a beast then give him the night
No one can defeat what they can't understand
I would love to know it like the back of my hand
Drinking up the sun will you call out the lies
Can you bottle feed it up inside
Shake out all the stars and fill it with sand
I'll catch them but I don't even understand, oh understand

How does it feel
Your lies have pulled you under
How does it feel
It must be pretty hard oh
How does it feel
To eat words a skeleton utters
Take a drink and lay it down, Anthology