Loyle Carner

Yeah, like a plastic cup
Plastic queen
Like a plastic man
In a plastic house
With a plastic dream
Clinging to a plastic screen
Face lit from a plastic beam
Face hurts from a plastic smile
On plastic days
In plastic scenes
Yeah, drastic scenes
In elastic jeans
Matching your plastic shirt
That you bought last week for your plastic team
You don't know what the plastic means
Don't know where the plastic's been
Don't know who the plastic hurts
Don't know who the plastic's seen
Look at you with your plastic watch
Yeah, and your plastic whip
With your plastic friends
Yeah, and your plastic chick
Yeah, you're a plastic prick
Look at all your plastic shit

Yeah, plastic slips
With the plastic BBC
With the plastic N-I-double-G-E-R
On the broad day TV
With the plastic guy from the, ah
With the plastic guy, don't try me
With the plastic guy at the paper
That thinks that Kano looks like Wiley
Yeah, look at this plastic place
Yeah, look at those plastic slaves
All the plastic people
On the plastic days
With the plastic BBC
Plastic guys like me
Plastic N-I-double-G-E-R
On the broad day TV

Look at you with your plastic watch
Yeah, and your plastic whip
With your plastic friends
Yeah, and your plastic chick
You're a plastic prick
Look at all your plastic shit
Yeah, as the plastic melts
Yeah, feel as the plastic drips
Yeah, plastic slips
With the plastic BBC
With the plastic N-I-double-G-E-R
On the broad day TV
Plastic guys like me
Plastic N-I-double-G-E-R
On the broad day TV

Plastic
Plastic
Plastic
Plastic
Plastic, plastic, plastic
Plastic
Plastic
Plastic, plastic, plastic
Plastic, plastic

Plastic
Plastic, plastic, plastic
Plastic
Plastic
Plastic, plastic, plastic
Plastic, plastic
