

How do you trust the ground when it betrays you in ways you did n't think imaginable?

How do you trust yourself when it feels like everything you do is bad for you?

How do you trust the ground when it betrays you in ways you did n't think imaginable?