

Don't do it just because you think you should
You don't owe anybody anything
You're better off when you're honest
Quit making promises that you can't keep
The consequences makes sense to me
You brought it all onto yourself
Your deception won't last forever

We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
No, we won't

Give it time and some space to be sure
Give it light and clean air to restore
I suffer try to be exactly what you want

Come clean
Complain
Come clean to me

The armory, armory, armory is empty
The armory, armory, armory is boarded shut

We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again

Give it time and some space to be sure
Give it light and clean air to restore

We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again
We won't go back ever again

The armory, armory, armory is empty