Sky became darker when the news there came His cruel father was coming too fast Leaving behind him cancer and sorrow So satisfying his thirst for vengeance It's time to call the wisdom of the wind The whisper of the shadows The sword and the shield the power of the steel To win the mask of hell Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Leave dark hell behind you forever Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Break the chains of the past forever Face the king And so the day came... son against father Clash of their weapons at the crash of thunder Hard was the fight in that unholy night So red the ice was never The sword and the shield the power of the steel To win the mask of hell Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Leave dark hell behind you forever Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Break the chains of the past forever Face the king "Oh, beholder, what did you do? May the lord forgive your action..." The black raven is now flying While the brave one's slowly dying... But the swears with last breath: "I'll be back To take you to dark Alkar, the kingdom of pain!" Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Leave dark hell behind you forever Face the king, ride the wind For the legend of steel Break the chains of the past forever Face the king