

18 Years

Lucky Boys Confusion

I waited 18 years to start on life
Should've waited 10 more and got it right, alone
I spend most of my time, alone
I spend most of my time

I gave so much for the applause
Yeah, I just fell in love with my own flaws, alone
I spend most of my time, alone
I spend most of my time

I swore in 18 years I'd break these chains
Yeah, I just fell apart
I broke everything, alone
I spend most of my time, alone
I spend most of my time

The cameras flash; they block the streets
Wrap me in yellow tape for the world to see, alone
Like my chalk outline, alone
I spend most of my time

Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on kids, nothing to see here
Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on, there's nothing to see

This way, at least I belong to something
This way, at least I will not waste a moment
And this way, at least I belong to something

18 years to start on life
Should've waited 10 more and got it right, alone
I spend most of my time, alone
I spend most of my time, alone
I spend most my time, alone
I spend most my time, alone
Like my chalk outline, alone
I spend most of my time

Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on kids, nothing to see here
Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on, there's nothing to see

Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on kids, nothing to see here
Go home, there's nothing to see
Move on, nothing to see, yeah, yeah