

Skylights

Lucy Spraggan

I saw sunshine when I met you,
Now it shines through every window in our house,
It's hard to find the words to tell you,
How in love and lucky I feel now.

The smell of bacon in the morning,
Or the sound of rain on skylights on the roof,
In the street there's noise and sirens,
Behind this door belongs to me and you.

We will love, one another,
With heart and head you take the edge away.

Different seasons, different weather,
The weather will bring wrinkles to our skin,
Same old heart but changing body,
But I love you every day till it gives in.

I play a remind of songs,
The fire keeps up warm,
Rough days, we stay up a late hour, neigh,
All the covers on the floor.

We will love, one another,
With heart and head you take the edge away.

The second that I met you,
Said I wouldn't let you walk away,
Right beside you I will always stay.

Your cooking up a storm,
While I'm still driving home,
I call your phone, one more void zone, you and me could be alone.

We will love, one another,
With heart and head you take the edge away.

The second that I met you,
Said I wouldn't let you walk away,
Right beside you I will always stay.

I saw sunshine when I met you,
Now it shines through every window in our house.
