

Someone

Lucy Spraggan

You may never be a scientist
You may never fire a gun
You may never set foot on the moon
But you're already someone
You may never find the missing link
You may never paint a work of art
But you will find faith where they say it is It's all ready in your heart

When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed
When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed

You may never be a millionaire
You may never have all you wish for
But when you have what you wanted
Just know you had it all before
When the time comes you will know
You will feel it in your heart
And the only time you will find real light
Is when your searching in the dark

When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed
When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed

You may never have another chance
The stars are in your reach
You have the power in your hands
It's time now to believe
You will always have the secret
You will always have the air to breath
Everyday say to yourself this future is for me

When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed
When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed

When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other
Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed
When the bombs go off I wont take cover keep one foot in front of the
other

Home is where I lay my head so under the stars I'll make my bed