

It'll Be Alright

Luke Christopher

This'll be the song you turn on when, like, shit ain't going so well
When you just need a pick-me-up
Oo-ooh, yeah

The pain hit me hard this year, I been facing all my fears
When the world seems insincere, I'm waiting for a voice to tell me
"Everything is gonna be alright-ight
It's gonna be alright, it's gonna be alright-ight"

I still remember my name, well
Forgot just about everything else
The chapstick in my pocket is melting
I don't know how to take care of myself
They said I'm scared to go outside today
I just wait till my anxiety breaks
I tell myself I need time to change
But I know it happens right away

The pain hit me hard this year, I been facing all my fears
When the world seems insincere, I'm waiting for a voice to tell me
"It's gonna be alright, right? It's gonna be alright, right?
It's gonna be alright-ight"

I know a really good girl, but I can't seem to tell her the truth
So I lie, but I got nothing to lose or hide
I'm just scared for her to see inside
And no one tells you where the pieces lie
They only show you what the picture look like
And only want to give a piece of my heart
So much better than a piece of my mind

The pain hit me hard this year, I been facing all my fears
And people seem so insincere, but still I hear a voice that's saying
"I know it's gonna be alright, just gotta keep my head high
It's gonna be alright, it's gonna be alright
It's gonna be alright, it's gonna be alright
It's gonna be alright, it's gonna be"
Oo-ooh, oo-ooh
This'll be the song you turn on when, like, shit ain't going so well
