

Midnight In Tokyo

Luke Christopher

There's a fire in this building
I could feel it building
Somewhere in this ceiling burns
All the windows we should board them
The fall we can't afford it
The flames are coming I guess it's our turn

'Cause you'll, be mine
Tonight, baby
My fear, and my
Disguise, is fading
No matter, how
I try, baby

'Cause the old me needs to burn up
There's hope in the inferno
I'm so glad that we're doing this now
There's a troop of firefighters
Just fighting our desires
There's no point in tryna get out

And you're, above
The sky, in New York
And it, just turned
Midnight

All while, it's you and I

I'll be here I promise my Language will be honest I'm Here forever, won't take you for granted
Always songs of heartbreak [?]
Sweet you love my [?]
My voice is only human by definition
Ooh

The sky, in New York
And it, just turned
Midnight

It's you and I

'Cause you're, above
The sky, in New York
And it, just turned
Midnight

All while, it's you and I
