

Sunny Days

Luke Christopher

When I woke up this morning
I looked into the mirror
Things are far from perfect
But the picture's getting clearer
I guess that in fact my future isn't made
At least I'm still here
On this sunny day

Yeah, Luke Chris
The world was gorgeous before this
I'm just tryna' make it better though
Life ain't a bitch she's the one, don't you let her go
This is for the better folks holding onto dreams
We don't hear you with the whispering cos' life is but a scream
We do funny things, that's always for attention
That is certain we could raise our babies in a mansion
With fancy things, all the cash we see
If I had half that I'd be happy see now I would Member' the days on the rail road tracks
Mama asked where we were, we would laugh and deter
"Was you playing basketball?" Yes we concur
One day I'll have her wrapped up in fabulous fur
It's evolution, ain't have shit but I was scared to lose it
Now I'm balancing on records like they upright toothpicks
It don't matter I can swim, I'm a be there in a min
Know the journey ain't as pretty as the picture in the end, but
You can Photoshop it, I had a blast here
You was mad normal, we was mad weird
Last year it was dark there was mad fear
The light's shining now, shit is mad clear

When I woke up this morning
I looked into the mirror
Things are far from perfect
But the picture's getting clearer
I guess that in fact my future isn't made
At least I'm still here
On this sunny day

I wanna be
Bowling this shit with, loads of them bitches
Out on the water with, hoes in they britches
But, niggas need cash for that
Not to have them girls flipping like they acrobats, Circ
Du Soleil, thirst like sorbet
White bitches looking like "Ooh Chipotle"
Man, sometimes I just be staring at the walls
Why me though why'd you answer my call? It's like
I know that I've been working and stressing
But after all this it still feels like a blessing
They trying to love me it's hard just to let them
Cos' once they rock with me, I never forget them

When I woke up this morning
I looked into the mirror
Things are far from perfect
But the picture's getting clearer

I guess that in fact my future isn't made
At least I'm still here
On this sunny day
