

Seeing Someone

Luke Combs

My buddies say it's time to turn the page
"She's moving on and you should, too."
Every single friend with a single friend
Says, "She'd be perfect for you."
A pretty blonde walks in all alone
They ask, "Why don't you say hello
Ask for her name?" but they don't know
I've been seeing someone

Sometimes she shows up late at night
Slips down the hall when I kill the lights
Like a midnight silhouette
Slow dancing up them steps
There's a memory living in this house
I ain't all alone 'cause she ain't gone
Call me crazy, but I think I need to see somebody
'Cause I've been seeing someone

Could be a chance that I'm obsessed
But I swear that stereo's possessed
I turn it on and hear our song
And see her in that dress
Sure, the breeze can blow that front porch swing
But Old Glory sure don't make it seem Like there's any wind out there, I think
I've been seeing someone

Sometimes she shows up late at night
Slips down the hall when I kill the lights
Like a midnight silhouette
Slow dancing up them steps
There's a memory living in this house
I ain't all alone 'cause she ain't gone
Call me crazy, but I think I need to see somebody
'Cause I've been seeing someone
I've been seeing someone

I've been seeing someone
Someone that ain't coming back
Guess I ain't come to terms with that
There's used to be's in everything
Even in my dreams
I've been seeing someone

Sometimes she shows up late at night
Slips down the hall when I kill the lights
Like a midnight silhouette
Slow dancing up them steps
There's a memory living in this house
I ain't all alone 'cause she ain't gone
Call me crazy, but I think I need to see somebody
'Cause I've been seeing someone

Mm, I've been seeing someone
