

How to Lose Your Life

Luke Sital-Singh

When I get to the end and it's just the start
Hold it all together pull it all apart
Nothing to fix without a broken heart
I am the driftwood and you're the tide
The sun on the surface the glare in my eyes
Once I could see but now I am blind

Be the voice that shakes me up
Be the words when I don't know much
I'd give myself to be by your side
I will lose my life to the love I find

You came and moved me to the core
Broke me in pieces but I just want more
Now I laugh at the person that I was before
Funny how you were so hard to find
Then I could see but now I am blind

Be the voice that shakes me up
Be the words when I don't know much
I'd give myself to be by your side
I will lose my life to the love I find
I will lose my life to the love I find

Be the voice that shakes me up
Be the words when I don't know much
I'd give myself to be by your side
I will lose my life to the love I find
I will lose my life to the love I find
I will lose my life to the love I find
I will lose my life to the love I find
